

Creative Thinking

Critical Thinking and Creative Thinking go hand-in-hand

Your thinking can have a significant effect on the quality of your life – it determines how well you work through complex problems, make decisions, and accomplish your goals. That's why developing creative thinking skills is so important. To think creatively is a practical goal – you can apply to every question, issue, or problem you face.

This course explains describes the skills required for creative thinking and how to apply creativity thinking to decisions, problems, or issues in the workplace.

Creativity and Ideas

Creative thinking is the ability to look at things with a fresh perspective to be able to generate new, unorthodox ideas which can help in solving problems. Creativity and the need for it is not limited only to artists, designers or those in a creative profession. Each of us can develop and benefit from it.
